Twitter Nursing Engagement Activity Regarding the COVID-19 Pandemic

From March to June 2020, the Canadian Nurses Association has been gathering polling result information on Twitter regarding nurses' perceptions of, and responses to, the COVID-19 pandemic. The intent of this engagement activity was to hear from nurses about trends, issues, and what they identified as being important to them regarding the COVID-19 outbreak. The following are highlights from these replies. Thanks to everyone for your input!

Protection of health care workers (28%) and cautious re-opening (30%) are priority areas for nurses' efforts related to the national response to COVID-19. 67% of respondents identified that they need more information about protection at work regarding COVID-19.

HOW MUCH LONGER DOYOU FEEL EMOTIONALLY EQUIPPED TO DEAL WITH THE PANDEMIC?

34%

A few more weeks As long as it takes Initial responses 42%

42%

A few more weeks As long as it takes Responses after 6 weeks

WHAT IS YOUR PRIMARY CONCERN (IF ANY) AROUND COVID-19?

47%

Health of family and friends Initial responses

41%

Health of family and friends Responses after 6 weeks

WHAT CHALLENGES ARE YOU FACING DUE TO COVID-19?

22%

Lack of equipment Increased workload Initial responses

25%

39%

34%

Lack of equipment Increased workload Responses after 6 weeks

